

IMPROVED OPTICAL WINDOW FOR GENERATING WAVEFORMS

ABSTRACT

5 An optical window is disclosed through which light can be shone to generate a waveform. Windows are hourglass-shaped, to better conform the shape of the windows to the distribution of light intensity. The optical window can be incorporated into a variety of optical devices.